Trash near airport reeks of crash risk?

◆ Hero pilot says garbage facility near LaGuardia is bad idea ◆ Bloomberg argues that FAA approval means it's safe ◆ But Sully says don't tempt fate

What it felt like

NEW YORK. Feeling birds sucked into an engine at 3,200 feet is a feeling no one should encounter, Sullenberger told Metro.

"This instantly became an ultimate challenge of a lifetime," Sully said.

"I knew as it happened and why and what that meant for us," he continued. "When those big birds went through the core of the engines, they lost thrust very quickly, almost within seconds, and it was shocking. It felt as if the forward momentum of the airplane had stopped. It was unlike anything I'd ever experienced."

Mayor Michael Bloomberg and Captain Chesley Sullenberger are butting heads over whether a proposed garbage facility next door to LaGuardia Airport will attract dangerous flocks of birds to the city's already congested airspace.

The city is planning to build a 100-foot-high garbage facility within a half-mile of the airport's runways, to open in 2013. "Nobody thinks it's going to attract geese," Bloomberg said confidently.

But Sullenberger, who famously guided U.S. Airways Flight 1549 to safety on the Hudson River after it took "When you look at how busy that runway is every day of the week ... even things that don't happen very often eventually will happen." SULLENBERGER off from LaGuardia and birds flew into both engines, disagrees.

"It's not wise," he told Metro. "The birds will learn that there's food there, and they will keep returning."

Sully said the garbage would add one more thing to a list of pilots' worries when flying into New York.

"We're adding more to that responsibility, unnecessarily," he said.

And he was not pacified by promises that the trash would be checked for leaks, and that spikes will be added to thwart birds. Any bird attracted to rotting food, even a small starling, can be dangerous, Sullenberger said.

"You don't need a goose to have catastrophic damage to an engine," he said.

Guaranteed better than all others they used say dozens of delighted users with full names and towns on the Bell website. Works by cleansing blood inside rather than attacking skin from the outside and leaving the actual cause untreated. Here are a few examples:

By Dr. C. Hammoud Ph.D.

I had terrible Acne for 3 years and tried products with Benzoyl Peroxide, Aloe Vera and others. After 4 days taking the Bell natural product #60 it started to clear up my skin. My skin changed from terrible to beautiful. Mylene Theriault, 19, Sorel-Tracy, QC In 2 days my son's face completely cleared up of acne. My son is 15 and suffered for 3 years. We used many products like laser, Neem that did not work or burned his skin. Veronica Marden, Seminole, TX Unbelievable acne free beautiful skin Last couple of years I had acne and tried every product and antibiotics. Results with #60 were unbelievable. Thanks for giving me beautiful skin and my self-esteem. Nelisa Royer, 28, Doral, FL Within 6 days eczema cleared up completely. I believe #60 addresses the cause internally instead of the symptoms. Latifa Boutshik, 43, North York, ON I had severe psoriasis over 95% of my body. Last 5 years I have stunned every doctor and dermatologist. I spent tons of money on remedies. After I got Bell #60, I've never seen anything work as fast in my life. Within 2 days I saw my skin clearing up. I'm speechless. It was inexpensive compared with what I spent before. Jessica Shantz, 25, Dawson Creek, BC All statements made on the Bell website are sent by delighted users. All are real people. Most have listed phone numbers and can be called for advice. No money is paid to them. Their reward is the relief they are getting. All say #60 works within days not months, not years. It's more effective than what they used before. It is less expensive (some acne suppliers ship monthly and charge monthly, which may amount to large sums yearly). No side effects were reported on #60. TRUE EVIDENCE that we are helping people.

SNORING? SLEEP APNEA?

Most older men and many women snore and have sleep apnea (gasping for air):

To my surprise, after taking Bell Snoring & Sleep Apnea Relief #23 I really didn't snore or gasp for air anymore. I sleep through the night and feel rested and refreshed in the morning. Mark Wilson, 40, Hudson, NH Sleep apnea capsules worked first night! For last 15 years I had sleep apnea and my doctor made me buy a CPAP machine, which I could not use. Finally Bell #23 helped the first night and every night thereafter. Like a miracle. Unbelievable. Karen Braun, 67, Glace Bay, NS For 20 years I was waking up frequently gasping for air. During the day I would start napping every time I would sit down, because I was tired. Since taking Bell #23 sleeping 6 hours is heaven. It made a substantial change in my life. Mary C. Myrick, 62, Jackson, MS It is such a joy not having to use the CPAP machine. I have had sleep apnea for 10 years. I was skeptical about Bell Snoring & Sleep Apnea Eze #23. After using it for 3 weeks my wife says there is no more snoring or gasping for breath or stoppage of breathing. It is such a joy to be able to roll to left or right with no hose or mask to deal with and can get up with no restrictions. Thank you Bell for a great relief. I suggest anyone with these problems to try it. You will be overjoyed with the results. Wayne Burse, 63, Beamsville, ON Bell is helping people everywhere.

Pay-by-phone parking unveiled

Drivers can feed the meter straight from their cell O You'll even get an alert when time's running out

Forget fumbling for coins or even pulling out your credit card the next time you need to park: New Yorkers may soon be able to pay for parking by smartphone, the Department of Transportation announced yesterday.

The city will launch a pilot program this spring to allow drivers to pay for parking using their cell phones. The DOT is now accepting proposals for the program.

The pilot will include 300 parking spaces. It likely won't be launched in clogged Manhattan, but instead in an outer borough neighborhood. Drivers can register for the online system using their phones, linked to a credit or debit card. They call into the system when they want to park, giving the number of the meter and instructing how much to charge.

As an added bonus, drivers will even receive a heads-up that they have five minutes left on the meter.

All aboard the train to the future. The Long Island Rail Road took its brand-new hand-held "Ticket Issuing Machines" for a test ride on select trains yesterday.

Conductors on trains running between Ronkonkoma and Greenport sported an Apple iPhone 4 equipped with a PaySaber "cradle device" that processes both cash and credit card sales, and prints out tickets onboard.

But convenience comes transit system in the metro with a price: LIRR customers who opt to buy tickets onboard will still be required to pay the extra fee of up to $6.50 per ticket. Only two percent of all LIRR tickets are bought onboard trains, according to a railroad spokesman.

LIRR President Helena Williams cited young LIRR riders' predilection for plastic as the cause for the system update.

"Our younger customers in particular often don't carry cash," said Williams.

Starting Aug. 26, the smartphones will also be used on select trains on the Penn Station to Montauk line. The pilot project will run through Oct. 9.

Print theft in fashion?

◆ Forever 21 sued for copyright infringement by NYC women ◆ Say they saw girl in a knock-off of their design Moriah Carlson and Alice Wu are seeing double. The two designers for the New York City-based women's wear line "Feral Childe" are suing Forever 21 for what they say is copyright infringement of one of their signature patterns.

Wu, 37, of Oakland, Calif., met Carlson, 37, of Boerum Hill, when the two studied at the New York Studio School in Greenwich Village.

The pair said it took months to painstakingly perfect the design for the "A lot of young designers get taken advantage of like this. They have great ideas that are co-opted by big companies." CARLSON pattern "TeePee" for their fall 2009 collection. But this May, they saw their hard work for sale in Forever 21 stores across the nation.

"I was in the Atlantic Avenue subway station and I saw this girl in a cute outfit," recalled Carlson. "As she walked toward me, I saw my print, but not my garment. I just couldn't believe it."

Forever 21 charged between $15 and $22 for garments using the allegedly pilfered print, a far cry from the $60 to $375 price Feral Childe traditionally retails for in the boutiques where their clothing is sold.

"I know everyone likes a bargain," said Wu. "But there's a reason for what things cost — there's so much work that goes into Fashion faux pas?

Forever 21 has been the target of a number of copyright infringement cases by high-profile names.

Wu and Carlson say Forever 21 is exploiting a loophole by claiming the company's contractors, not Forever 21, make the garments. "They technically don't produce, so they can keep getting away with it," said Carlson.

For its part, a Forever 21 spokesman claims the alleged theft wasn't on its hands — the retailer purchased the print from a third party.

"As soon as we received the inquiry we removed the item from our inventory and contacted our vendor," the spokesman said.

Feral Childe is hoping to take the case to trial to recoup profits from sales.

Our Aim is to Beat Most Offers!

We Strive to Beat All Legitimate Written Offers

Before Bringing your items to us, take them to other dealers. Have them give you legitimate offers in writing. Then bring your jewelry and written offers to one of our locations. Although no one can guarantee with certainty they are paying the highest price for an article at any particular time, we will strive to beat most legitimate written offers.

Why We Can Usually Pay More Than Other Dealers

Most jewelers and dealers specialize in few items and focus on newer looking items to resell. Because they are unfamiliar with many other items including vintage jewelry, old watches, coins, flatware, etc. they tend to offer very low prices because these items are not readily saleable for them. Our company has many specialized buyers for the various classifications of items that we purchase, therefore we can usually pay more.

A Note Regarding the Up To Prices listed in this Ad

The condition and rarity of an item determines its price. If an item is in excellent condition and very rare it might be worth the up to price, or even more. However, if an item is in poor condition, the value will be lower. For example, a 1927 S Quarter could be worth $7,000 in new condition or less than $20 in poor condition. The up to price reflects items of exceptional quality and rarity. Late payments on credit cards fall to 17-year low

Credit-card users are so focused on keeping their accounts in good standing that they've driven the rate of late payments down to its lowest level in 17 years.

The national credit-card delinquency rate, or rate of payments 90 days or more past due, fell to 0.60 percent in the second quarter, down from 0.92 percent a year ago.

That's the lowest rate since 1994, according to credit reporting agency TransUnion.

Delinquencies were expected to drop, but the improvement in that April to June period was faster than forecast.

And the improved payment habits came despite increased use of credit cards, based on quarterly data reported by banks that issue Visa and Mastercard-branded cards and data from American Express Co. and Discover Financial Corp.

TransUnion also saw higher card use, reflected in a slight uptick in the amount of debt card users carried during the quarter. The average combined total debt for all major credit "Not only do we have consumers that are using their debt more responsibly and taking out less debt, they've also cut back on the number of the cards they carry."

cards increased by $20 from the first three months of the year — to $4,699 per borrower. Even so, that amount is down more than 5 percent from the $4,951 average in the second quarter of 2010, and is 16 percent lower than the peak average debt of $5,575 in the first quarter of 2009.

Agency affirms America's AAA rating

Fitch Ratings yesterday confirmed the United States' top-notch credit rating and, in blatant disagreement with rival Standard & Poor's, gave a vote of confidence to Washington's deficit-reduction efforts.

Fitch also kept a stable outlook on its U.S. AAA rating, less than two weeks after S&P downgraded the United States to AA-plus with a negative outlook.

The agency said, however, that it will revisit its decision at the end of the year. It threatened to slap a negative outlook on the rating at that time if lawmakers fail to implement the $2.1 trillion in savings that were agreed earlier this month or if the economy deteriorates significantly. Exercise: A little goes a long way

Doing just 15 minutes of moderate exercise a day may add three years to your life, a large study in Taiwan has found.

Most people struggle to stick to the standard guideline of 30 minutes a day of exercise, five days a week; and experts hope that by identifying a lower dose, more people will be motivated to get off the couch.

Lead researcher Chi Pang Wen of Taiwan's National Health Research Institutes said dedicating 15 minutes a day to a moderate form of exercise, like brisk walking, would benefit anyone.

This Summer, Take your Family to Camp!

When my husband and I started dating, one of the things we had in common was our love of summer camp as kids. Our memories of family trips are a different story. Let's just say, despite our parents' valiant efforts, they were less than magical. And I have to admit we haven't had much better luck with our own attempts at a family vacation.

Just when my hubby and I were about to give up on family vacations altogether, we discovered the perfect solution - camp! Just 90 minutes outside Manhattan in Kent, Connecticut, lies the ultimate family oasis - Club Getaway. And the best part? The all-inclusive rates are unbelievably affordable!

Upon arrival, we take up residence in one of the rustic wooden cabins that overlook the sparkling lake. Our comfy accom-modation includes a private bathroom and shower, a spacious porch and, best of all, air conditioning!

s you've no doubt heard, Russell Armthe strong. ▲tranged husband of "Real Housewives of Beverly Hills" cast member Taylor Armstrong, was found dead yesterday from what police are calling a suicide.

TMZ.com reported that a roommate discovered Armstrong, 47, hanging in a bedroom in his Los Angeles home. No suicide note was found.

Personal and financial trouble plagued Armstrong in the past few years. In July, he was slammed with a $1.5 million breach of contract lawsuit by a company that claimed he misused their funds to redecorate the mansion he shared with Taylor and their 5-year-old daughter, Kennedy. Taylor and Russell also had welldocumented altercations (a recent National Enquirer article stated that Taylor had a steel plate inserted into her eye socket during an operation to save her eye after Russell punched her in the face). Russell admitted to People magazine things would get hot with his wife, but: "This [TV] show has literally pushed us to the limit."

"His credit cards weren't working. ... He had tremendous financial problems," Armstrong's lawyer Ronald Richards told TMZ. "He was also extremely bummed out about the divorce with Taylor."

All of this is awful, but here's the truly horrendous part: Apparently the problems between Taylor and Russell were going to be a huge plot point in the next season of "Real Housewives of Beverly Hills," set to premiere Sept. 5 on Bravo. "All of us at Bravo are deeply saddened by this tragic news. Our sympathy and thoughts are with the Armstrong family at this difficult time," the cable network said in a statement. But Bravo offered no word whether or not they are going to continue with the second season as planned.

n one hand, it's terrible that the network would even think of airing the show, as a man is now dead and a little girl is without a father. On the other, you know deep down that you would watch. And so would millions of other rubbernecking Americans. Sad, but so very true.

So what do you think, readers? Should Bravo take the low road and continue on with Season 2 as planned, or scrap it and let this troubled family be at peace? Write in to let me know.

Prince Harry, single again

Prince Harry and model Florence Brudenell-Bruce have reportedly called it quits because Harry is preparing for the army, according to People magazine. "Harry has a lot on his mind at the moment. He is concentrating on his Apache helicopter training. After that, he's expecting to return to Afghanistan," a source says of the prince, who recently returned from a vacation with friends to Majorca.

"Harry enjoyed spending time with friends over the summer, but he doesn't want to be tied down in a relationship when training."

An equal opportunity judge

Adam Levine says the reason his singing competition show, "The Voice," is better than "American Idol" is because of the way his show treats gay contestants. "What's always pissed me off about 'Idol' is wanting to mask that, for that to go unspoken," he tells Out magazine. "Come on. You

Levine is especially passionate about the topic because of his brother. "I can single-handedly dispel any ideas that sexuality is acquired," Levine laughs. "Trust me, you're born with it. My brother is gay, and we knew when he was 2. We all knew."

Bieber rakes in the cash

Justin Bieber is Hollywood's richest teen, according to People magazine. He pulled in a reported $53 million last year. Most of his impressive income came from his 3-D movie, "Never Say Never," and his perfume line, Someday, which reached $3 million in retail sales in just three weeks. Former No.1 Miley Cyrus dropped to the second spot, earning only $48 million last year.

Creating a 'Cannes' in New York City

• A young festival aims to bring the best of international film to the city Expect 'state of the art' offerings with a little 1970s flair this year

In a city as diverse as New York, it's important that the entertainment reflects the population. That's why the second annual New York City International Film Festival aims to bring movies from all over the world to Manhattan.

Robert Rizzo, founder and CEO of the fest, was first inspired to create the event after attending the world-renowned Cannes Film Festival.

"I created the [New York City International Film Festival with the purpose to discover new and talented filmmakers and to promote established ones from the U.S. and around the world," Rizzo says. "I want to give them a high-profile platform in New York to showcase their creative work to a vast and diverse audience."

Among the films featured this year is "The Last Gamble," a thriller centered on a gambling addict in New York City. The film's di-

Nerd's the word

▶ Blogger Roxana Altamirano of Nerdboyfriend.com makes everything from Woody Allen's trademark frames to Adam Scott's boyish threads current and accessible ▶ But don't break out your pocket protector just yet

For Roxana Altamirano, the underdog is king. As Nerdfounder of boyfriend.com, she transformed her admiration of geeky male celebrities into a successful online style guide. The blog features iconic male portraits from classics like Salvador Dali and Ernest Hemingway to contemporaries such as Elvis Costello and Adrien Brody — with links to stores where her followers can recreate the look du jour. "It's all about ideas," says Altamirano. We caught up with the L.A. resident to discuss what it takes to win her heart and what she'll be dressing her boyfriend in this fall.

Why are nerds such sex symbols?

The word "nerd" got associated with the blog by accident. I wanted to start a photo blog posting images of the male icons I was in love with. I realized they

Who was your first celebrity nerd crush?

Indiana Jones. He's not very nerdy but ...

But he was a professor.

Right! And I became enamored with Jim Henson, too, but not because I had posters of him on my wall. It's just the idea of him.

Have you met any crushes?

The only one I've met and posted is Andrew W.K. I wouldn't mind meeting John Turturro, David Bowie or Ian McKellen.

What are some essentials you like for guys this fall?

I stick to the classics. I like button downs — light pink and blue oxfords, the schoolboy type. I'm also a fan of waiting-for-a-flood pants. Not like Tom Brown or anything, not like man capris. I think TOMS are sexy. And I like when guys carry canvas totes. Those will do the trick.

How much sun?

The amount of sunshine remains largely dependent on where you live. Sun exposure would have to be in the middle of the day when UVB rays are available to the skin - and without sun protection, two things that skin cancer specialists say we should avoid.

Moderation is key, says Holick, and the closer you are to the equator, the less you need. "In Miami, three to five minutes is enough. Without sunshine, you can't produce an adequate amount of vitamin D."

According to Dr. Michael F. Holick's book, "The Vitamin D Solution," a worldwide epidemic is raging and most people don't even know about it.

"Vitamin D deficiency is the most common medical problem worldwide, even in sunny countries," Holick says. The big problem is that although vitamin D is added to items like low-fat milk and orange juice, and found naturally in eggs and some oily fish, dietary sources are woefully insufficient. To get their recommended daily amount:

"Children would have to drink 10 glasses of vitamin D-enriched milk per day and adults [would need] 15 to 20 glasses," says Holick. He touts "diet, supplements and sunshine" as ways to up your intake.

For those with darker skin, who generally have lower amounts of vitamin D than those with white skin, supplements can be especially useful. A recent study from Georgia Health Sciences University showed that vitamin D supplements also boost the vitality of blood vessels, cutting the risk of cardiovascular issues.

Interpreting your wildest dreams

Dream interpretation is a subject of fascination for many, but Dr. Lauri Loewenberg is the real expert. Holding a doctorate in archetypal psychology, she can make sense of just about any dream, given the right contextual information, and you can interpret your own, too, with a few tips from her latest book, "Dream On It: Unlock Your Dreams, Change Your Life."

Loewenberg says that dreams should be treated as advice you give to yourself.

self," she says. "Everything in your dream is about you and about your life. If you dream that a co-worker dies or a family member dies, we think, 'Oh my gosh, they might die.' When in fact it's something about you that's dying off or changing." But if dreams are so specific to each person, why do so many of us have dreams about the same things, like teeth falling out or flying?

"Look at your dreams as a language," says Loewenberg. "They're really metaphors for your life because this is how we communicate when we talk. We use metaphors. It's a picture language. The difference is that the dream brings it to life and puts you in it."

Loewenberg suggests keeping a journal in which you describe your dreams right after they happen and to look closely to the day before the dream in order to figure out what it means.

"I've found that your day and your dream are always connected," she says.

Are nightmares a good thing?

It's constructive criticism. It's kind of a slap in the face that says, "Hey, wake up, this issue really needs to be taken care of already."

- Do you believe dreams can be prophetic?
 I hear a lot of people who have compelling stories about how their dreams did kind of show them the future. I do leave myself open to that, but also the scientist in me is skeptical because we do, as part of human nature, tend to draw the bullseye around the arrow.
- What's the best way to have a lucid dream?

 Set your alarm 20 or 30 minutes earlier than you need to wake you up. When it goes off, hit the snooze button, and then in that 20 to 30 minutes, you will drift back into sleep but not deep enough where you lose your consciousness.

How to save your skin from the summer sun

Madonna's dermatologist, Dr. Fredric Brandt, tells us how to give our skin a subtle summer glow without suffering from the sun's rays in the long run

How the sun does harm: "Sun exposure ages our skin faster than any other element. Anyone who wishes to prevent wrinkles and maintain an even skin tone must wear an SPF of at least 30 everyday no matter where they live. Sun damage happens all the time: winter and summer, sunshine and rain. One of the worst and least suspected culprits comes from some types of fluorescent light bulbs. They can emit UVA rays that are strong enough to cause the breakdown of collagen and elastin."

Damage control: "The best way to get glowing skin year-round is to accelerate cell turnover — which will prevent dry, flaking skin and stimulate your skin's collagen production. When you pick products, look out for ingredients such as retinols, glycolic acid and salicylic acid. All accelerate cell turnover and eliminate dry skin, giving you a radiant glow. Vitamin A is proven to stimulate new collagen production. If you wish to extend your summer tan into the fall, use a sunless tanner containing dihydroxyacetone (a harmless skin-coloring agent)." Prepare your skin: "Apply a teaspoon worth of sunscreen to the face, neck, decollete and ears 30 minutes before going outdoors."

During sun exposure: "Reapply sunscreen more than once throughout the day. Check the UV index to see how much sun you are actually getting."

After sun exposure: "If you were burnt, take Advil to help reduce inflammation. Apply aloe vera or cool compresses to the area. Remember to constantly keep your skin hydrated."

More skin tips

from Dr. Brandt

How to deal with:

- Blackheads: "Blackheads are caused when dead skin cells combine with the oil glands in your skin to produce sebum. A clay mask will to help absorb this oil and unclog your pores."
- Sun blemishes and spots: "No products will effectively lighten skin or remove spots without the daily use of sunscreen (SPF 30). In the morning, use an antioxidant cream to fight free radical damage and products containing hydroquinone or arbutin to lighten the skin. At night, creams with peptide or retinol will help increase collagen production."
- Chapped lips: "Avoid lip-licking and choose Vaseline over a more waxy lip balm. Buy moisturizing balms containing natural ingredients with little dye or fragrance and apply throughout the

Name names, Mr. President

I want Obama to fix our problems but in order to do that, he needs to stop hiding the names of those members of Congress who continually oppose change of any kind in the name of the Republican party. I bet the massive number of unemployed (which I am fortunate enough not to be included in) can take action and vote to have them removed or at least write to their local government to make changes. It's our country, and we need to take it back! HOWARD LIVINGSTON, VIA E-MAIL

This is not a capitalism

RE: "CAPITALISM IS UNSUS-TAINABLE": Suzie, vou need to read your Adam Smith and figure out what capitalism really is before spouting off. Capitalism exists when everyone has equal access to the marketplace and prices are plotted on a supply and demand curve. The special interests/lobbies in Congress who pay both parties off are there to make sure the system is restricted to only approved players. You may not like the Tea Party, but ask yourself why they are the only third party that has made a difference in the elections since the Progressive party. CHRISTOPHER WELCH, VIA E-MAIL

Pay up or shut up, Buffett

RE: "BUFFETT: STOP CODDLING THE RICH": For years Warren Buffett has been vocal about how taxes on the very wealthy should be increased. Yet, throughout his illustrious career he has structured his dealings and compensation in a way to avoid paying taxes. Berkshire Hathaway doesn't pay dividends and he never

Like it or not, we need them

RE: "TAX MONEY NOT FOR THE PEOPLE": Ms. Donnoe thinks taxes should only go towards paying the national debt and nothing else? Fine. I'm sure she won't mind fixing our roads, defending our shores and prosecuting drug suppliers all on her own. After all, according to her, government is "the problem" and shouldn't do anything to defend or assist us all. JOSEPH CONNELL, BROWNSVILLE

Six names, five spots

• Yankees need to cut rotation from six pitchers to five • Sabathia, Colon are only givens ♦ What to do with Burnett off average start? ♦ You can never have too much pitching, right?

A.J. Burnett finally won a game in August. Nobody should be preparing any pies to celebrate the occa-

Burnett's line of three runs and 10 hits in 5 2/3 innings Monday gave him his first win since beating Milwaukee on June 29. It was a win because the Yankee offense scored enough.

"Maybe a cupcake, no pie for that," Burnett said. "You've got to do a lot better than three runs in 5 2/3 to get a pie."

In between wins, Burnett was 0-3, failed to protect a 12-run lead in Chicago and hung a curveball to a .180-hitter last week in a four-run implosion against the Angels.

If 47 days between victories isn't confounding enough, Burnett hadn't won in August in nearly three years.

On TV tonight

cause he probably isn't suited to the bullpen. Phil Hughes would be a more likely choice for the pen. But Burnett's recent performance might not be enough to convince the Yankees to give him a postseason start.

Last year, the Yankees Burnett will likely re- skipped Burnett in the main in the rotation be- ALDS, but started him in the ALCS because they didn't know what they had in Ivan Nova.

This year, the Yankees don't have that problem, especially if they believe Ivan Nova's development will appear in the postseason or if Bartolo Colon and Freddy Garcia can continue their success. That makes Burnett the odd man out in the playoff rotation.

Metro takes a look at each Yankees starting pitcher's body of work prior to last night's City Royals:

Ivan Nova 4 11-4, 3.85 ERA, 112.1 IP, 67 K, 41 BB, 1.39 WHIP

Freddy Garcia 10-7, 3.16 ERA, 122.1 IP, 81 K, 37 BB, 1.31 WHIP

The U booster speaks

Don't worry Ohio State fans, you've got some company. Yahoo! Sports reported former University of Miami booster Nevin Shapiro detailed hundreds of thousands of dollars in illegal benefits given to Miami athletes, including Giants Antrel Rolle and Kenny Phillips. METRO

In the news

Beltran placed on DL

So it's not just the uniform after all. Former Mets outfielder Carlos Beltran was placed on the disabled list by the Giants yesterday. Beltran hadn't played since Aug. 8 with a strained right hand. He was hitting just .244 in 11 games with San Francisco.

A-Rod nears his return

Alex Rodriguez hit a home run in his first rehab at-bat for Tampa last week, but the team isn't rushing him back.

The slugger made his debut with Triple-A Scranton-Wilkes Barre last night in what will be his final step before returning to the major league club.

Presuming he feels fine today he will play again in Scranton tonight and then is expected to play with the Yankees in Minnesota on Thursday.

Rodriguez hasn't played since July 8 when he underwent an MRI and discovered he had a torn meniscus in his right knee. Surgery followed three days later.

The Yankees haven't missed his bat in the middle of the lineup, however, going 22-11 in his absence. METRO

PREVIOUS JOB EXPERIENCE: NBA PLAYER

If you use Twitter, perhaps you saw this: Delonte West an NBA guard on the Celtics who has collected roughly $14 million in salary during his upand-down seven-year career, claims to have put in a job application at Home Depot.

Well done, J.J. Barea, well done.

ere are his exact words:
"Pride 2 the side.. just filled out a application at Home Depot.. Lockout aint a game.."
He's talking, of course, about the NBA lockout. The work stoppage is expected to cost the league at least half the season — perhaps all of it. If you look at West's salary, conservatively, he took home $8 million after taxes and paying his agent and lawyer. Obviously $8 million over seven years is still good loot, but we're talking about the NBA here, and you know how players in the league roll. If you're not driving a big-body Benz, you might as well be playing in the D-League.

Quoted

"Burn! The threat of a black eye an showing up at Biffle's house is real talk." I firmly believe West actually applied to Home Depot. Why not go and play overseas? Some wonder if his September 2009 arrest for driving a three-wheel motorcycle with a 9mm Beretta pistol, .357 Magnum and a Remington 870 arsenal in a guitar case on his back is the reason. Or maybe he's just not in high demand?

Boris Said what?

Jould you believe me if I told you the best trash talk this week didn't take place on the baseball diamond or the football field ... but in the NASCAR

I think Boris Said could win trash talking quote of the year for this smackdown of fellow driver Greg Biffle: "He is the most unprofessional little scaredy cat I've ever seen in my life. He wouldn't even fight me like a man after. So if someone texts me his address, I'll go see him Wednesday at his house and show him what he really needs. He needs a [freakin'] whooping and I'm going to give it to him. It's not right to wreck cars, but he'll show up at a race with a black eye one of these days."

Burn! The threat of a black eye and showing up at Biffle's house is real talk.

Beauty queen update

Giants pitcher Barry Zito is dating and possibly engaged to Miss Missouri (2007), Amber Seyer. She's kind of, sort of, a cross between two of his previous celebrity girlfriends (Alyssa Milano, Hilary Duff).

Dallas Mavericks' guard Rudy Fernandez is dating Miss Spain (2000), Helen Lindes. And, yes, that obviously means that Fernandez is required to go out to dinner with new teammate J.J. Barea ... remember, he's dating Zuleyka Rivera, the 2006 winner of Miss Universe.

Jets: 3 things we learned 1Strong start for Sanchez, but ...

There wasn't too much to rave about, but the performance of Mark Sanchez on Monday night was solid and encouraging. Against a revamped Texans defense, Sanchez went 6-of-7 for 43 yards in his two series and led the Jets to a Nick Folk field goal on their opening possession. So while Sanchez put up good numbers and spread the ball

2Vlad Ducasse 2is just a dud

Perhaps the writing was on the wall earlier this preseason when the Jets re-signed Wayne Hunter to a four-year, $13 million contract. Hunter, who assumed the starting right tackle position late last year due to injury, was for all intents and purposes being named the starter with the new deal. That left last year's second-round pick, Vlad Ducasse, on the outside looking in and on Monday night, we saw why. Ducasse lacked any sharpness at all and constantly proved to be a vulnerability.

3 Jeff Cumberland shows strides

Last year, Jeff Cumberland showed in offseason team activities and minicamp that he had the potential to be a starter. The undrafted tight end out of Illinois was repeatedly moved from wide receiver to tight end in college. So, during his rookie year, Cumberland rarely played as he focused on settling in at tight end and learning the position. But now, Cumberland has shown that he can be a versatile pass catching tight end an area of need opposite of Dustin Keller.

Grant back on Giants defense

The Giants may be in transition on the offensive side of the ball but the one constant heading into this season will be their vaunted defense.

Adding even more firepower yesterday was the resigning of versatile safety Deon Grant. The veteran played in every game last season and was one-third of the venerable three-headed safety rotation that also featured Antrel Rolle and Kenny Phillips. Many times, to great success, defensive coordinator Perry Fewell played all three at the same time.

Grant was welcomed back with open arms and immediately stepped back on the practice field in the afternoon session. No matter his role. Grant said it's "just good to be home" and is ready to get back to work.

"In the back of my mind, I knew I would be back here. This is where I wanted to be," Grant said. "There were a lot of situations that I turned down. I was glad that I was still on the [free agency] board and the Giants gave me that phone

Rolle, who started ahead of Grant last season, said he lobbied hard for his friend's return and said Grant's presence just makes an already deep Giants defense much scarier. O TONY WILLIAMS onstructed in 1929-1930 as the New York Telephone Company headquarters, BellTel Lofts is a 27-story condominium loft building located in the heart of Downtown Brooklyn's MetroTech Center. The architecture firm Beyer Blinder Belle, famous for its renovation and restoration of Grand Central Station, infused modern elements into the classic pre-war design when they converted it to luxury condominiums. The Art Deco style building was designated an individual landmark by the NYC Landmark Preservation Commission in 2004.

BellTel Lofts is the first high-end condominium in Downtown Brooklyn to receive FHA Approval through which purchasers can receive up to 96% financing on loans up to $729,750, and they can apply for a 5% fixed rate, 30-year mortgage. Additionally, all BellTel Lofts homeowners benefit from the J-51 Tax Abatement designated to the building by the New York City Department of Housing Preservation and Development (HPD) for the complete rehabilitation and preservation of the building. This translates to no real estate taxes for 10 years for owners.

BellTel Lofts contains 250 luxury residential units, with sales starting at $530,000. The sales team has just launched sales of The Penthouse Collection, with prices starting at $850,000.

DUMBO, Boerum Hill join SoHo and Tribeca as NYC's most expensive

SoHo and Tribeca were the most expensive New York City neigborhoods in the second quarter of 2011, but DUMBO was a surprising fourth entry on the top-10 list, according to PropertyShark.com. DUMBO was ahead of many other Manhattan neighborhoods - such as the Upper East Side and the Upper West Sides, the West Village and Chelsea - with a median sale price of $1.075 million. Brooklyn's Boerum Hill was also on the list at No. 10, with a medium sales price of $801,000. SoHo was top at $2.147 million, a 26 percent increase over its 2010 second-quarter price of $1.7 million.

Makeover ideas for your bathroom

Matt Muenster, a licensed contractor and the host of DIY Network's 'Bath Crashers,' shows you what to do o longer simply a place to freshen up, the bathroom is taking on a new role as focal point, according to Matt Muenster, the host of "Bath Crashers" on DIY Network. So how can you turn your (likely cramped) water closet into an all-out haven? Muenster gives the following tips.

Don't underestimate a fresh paint job

"I think it's often overlooked," says Muenster.
"You have to keep in mind [that] in a bathroom, just make it scrubbable. Take a risk with [color]. At the end of the day, if you don't like it realize it's just paint and it's in the smallest room in your house. You can try it again."

► Create accent areas

"If you've got a back wall of tile in your shower-tub combo, you can take out just a few of them. There's a lot of techniques you can find online to remove a center section of that tile, like three tiles high by ten tiles wide, without damaging the adjacent tiles. Spend ten bucks a sheet on four sheets of really cool accent tiles and do a small tile job like that. You get some color in there without tearing down everything. That's a project you can do in a day."

Let the light in

"Lighting is key. Hang a couple pendants above your vanity [and] bring in some colored glass there.

Don't be afraid to do something bold. These are small rooms — even a small, bold blue will be

Go for a monolithic floor

"Go bigger than 12-by-12 [with floor tiles]. That floor's gonna feel more expansive." Bigger tiles also mean less grout to clean, Muenster says. "Install tiles as close to each other as you can. Do 1/8 inch [or] smaller."

Choose the right mirror

If you have a large, unbecoming mirror, "take that down and buy a smaller-scale mirror." If you want to keep yours as is, at least get a nice frame - it's easier than you think! "There are kits where you can literally, with double-stick foam tape, apply a frame to one of those giant plate glass mirrors that looks like a wood frame. It adds a little bit of extra, layered detail."

Match your finishes

"If you've got chrome faucets, have chrome towel bars. They feel like small things, but in a bathroom, there's some big impact there."

Manhattan rentals sizzle in heat wave

Even as New Yorkers exit city en masse for vacations, residential leasing approaches boom-time highs

New Yorkers are fleeing the city in the scorching summer heat, trading subway cars for the Hamptons Jitney and business casual for bathing suits. Even so, the residential rental market is as sizzling-hot as the temperature, brokers say.

According to a market report released by the brokerage Citi Habitats, the average second-quarter rent for a Manhattan apartment jumped around 10 percent from the same period of 2010. Taking into consideration landlord concessions like a month of free rent, the median net-effective monthly rent paid by Manhattan tenants grew to $2,888 in the second quarter, up from $2,700 in the prior-year quarter, according to a new report from Prudential Douglas Elliman.

"The rental market is going absolutely crazy," says Bruno Ricciotti, a principal at Bond New York Real Estate. In some desirable neighborhoods, he says, apartments are renting for higher prices than they did during the peak of the real estate boom.

For example, Bond last month rented a studio in a West Village prewar doorman building for $3,100 per month, Ricciotti says. That's an increase from February 2009, when the same apartment had rented for $2,200, and even from the summer of 2007, when it rented for $2,950.

In some buildings, "rents are at an all-time, historic high," Ricciotti says.
